The School of Engineering at Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile invites applications for a full-time faculty position in the area of Transport Economics. The position is at the Assistant Professor level with a joint appointment at the Economics Institute (IE), Faculty of Economic and Administrative Sciences, and at the Department of Transport Engineering and Logistics (DTEL). The successful candidate is expected to i) conduct inter-disciplinary research in topics related to transport economics (transport industrial organization, market regulations, transport externalities and transport funding) and ii) to teach in the above areas.

Applicants should be starting their academic careers; however, senior candidates with an exceptional track record will also be considered. Candidates do not need to be fluent in Spanish at the moment of applying. They must exhibit excellent oral and written communication skills, an aptitude for teamwork, and a scholarly interest in high quality education.

A Ph.D. in Transport Economics is highly desirable, although specialization in closely related areas will also be considered.

Additional information may be obtained by e-mailing Dr. Juan Carlos Muñoz (jcm@ing.puc.cl) at DTEL or Dr. Claudio Sapelli (csapelli@uc.cl) at IE. Application instructions are described in the following link www.ing.puc.cl/transport-economics and should be submitted before April 30th, 2015, but late applications may be considered until the position is filled.
